Self-Isolation Requirements When a Client or Other Contact Tests Positive

This Special Bulletin keeps you informed on how the COVID-19 pandemic affects your practice by sharing the most recent updates to our COVID-19 Q&A.

Please check the Provincial and Territorial Bulletins and Other Resources sections of the Q&A for information on business closures/re-openings and financial assistance.

We encourage you to share the information on our website and social media with your network.

If a client or other contact tests positive for COVID-19, do I have to self-isolate?

Self-isolation requirements depend on your province or territory. If you know of a client, co-worker, or family member who has tested positive for COVID-19 or has been in close contact with a confirmed or probable case of COVID-19, you may need to self-isolate.

Please check with your provincial or territorial government for whether you need to self-isolate or not based on your contact with the person in question.
