This class assists personal growth, allowing the participant to integrate all their training to date. The class format covers issues and questions that come up during sessions; provides a chance for feedback and supervision of difficult situations; suggests ways to structure a session effectively, to set fees, and to be able to converse clearly with clients. Overall, it assists the practitioner to move from being a student to becoming a professional.

This system of working the Neurolymphatic Reflexes was developed by Frank Chapman, a Doctor of Osteopathy. He discovered, through clinical observation and practice, that treating these reflex points facilitated lymphatic drainage in the viscera, and that they could be used to help balance the endocrine system. Applying the gentle Ortho-Bionomy techniques to the reflexes has also been shown to affect structural balance, and the physical and emotional well being of the client.
